

Why Ergonomics Software?

AI-Driven Ergonomics Process: Achieve Instant Expertise

Expertly address
MSD risks

Build sustainable processes

There is a silent threat in your workplace responsible for failing employee health, increased insurance premiums, absenteeism, turnover, decreased quality and efficiency, and loss of productivity.

Musculoskeletal disorder (MSD) risk is prevalent across all work environments and can impact your entire workforce, along with your bottom line.

VelocityEHS Ergonomics empowers anyone through its sensorless 3D model for motion capture, including artificial intelligence and machine learning, to conduct MSD risk assessments and identify specific risk causes and relevant controls with the precision and accuracy of an experienced ergonomist.

"...with [VelocityEHS Ergonomics], we have the resources we need to identify, quantify, and prioritize issues, and more importantly, address and reduce these types of injuries. We methodically incorporated this approach and software into our standards and, after three years, these injuries were cut in half."
